Summary of the activity: (provide a brief summary of the project/activity and write it as though the reader knows nothing about it)

Researched a coffee shop known as Inklings to identify key problems with their hiring policies and to fix their issue. We compiled statistics from a liaison in the company and created charts to demonstrate the problem. Then we made a solution to said problem.

Execution of the activity: (explain the steps taken to complete the project/activity; discuss the skills utilized in executing & managing the project)

We began our project by reaching out to a member of the business that we were researching and discussing what problems they may have. We then identified their most significant problem, staffing during the summer, and set out to create a solution. We researched various other businesses with similar problems and determined a solution. Then we created a pitch to present to the business.

Evaluation of the activity: (evaluate the project/activity highlighting what worked well, what didn't go as planned and what you learned from it)

The activity went very well. We identified and solved the problem. Our planning process was a lot smoother than previous projects and we collaborated efficiently. Contacting the business was difficult but due to one of us having a personal connection to an employee it made that much easier. I learned all about staffing in this project and discovered the importance of it.
